Chef Francisco® Soups
8lb Pouch

Heating unopened bags in water:

Place unopened bag in a large kettle or pot of boiling water. Caution: Do not overload. Bag must float freely in the water to avoid damage to packaging material. Lower heat and simmer until product reaches 185 degrees F for 10 minutes, approximately 60 minutes if frozen, or 45 minutes if previously thawed.

Internal temperature can be checked by removing bag from the water and folding it, unopened, around a stemmed thermometer. Do not puncture bag. Carefully remove hot bag from the water by grasping the top corners of the bag. Place bag in a gallon measuring container and cut corners of the bag facing the spout. Hold the uncut corner of the bag and pour contents into serving container.

Reduce heat and hold at 150 degrees-160 degrees for service.

Heating bags in kiosks, kettles and on the stove top:

Thaw product ahead of time. Cut the corner of bag and pour the thawed product into a soup insert or other container for heat.

Cover and heat slowly, stirring occasionally, until product reaches 185 degrees F for 10 minutes, approximately 45 minutes if previously thawed.

It is important to hold cream soups at 185 degrees F for 10 minutes to allow the starch system to fully develop. Otherwise, these products may have a thin consistency.

Reduce heat and hold product at 150 degrees - 160 degrees F for service.

Heating bags in a commercial steamer:

Place unopened bag on a tray or perforated pan and place in steamer.

Heat product to 185 degrees F for 10 minutes. Heating time will be about 60 minutes if product is frozen or about 45 minutes if previously thawed.

Heating time can vary, depending upon the type of steamer used. Internal temperature can be determined by removing the bag from the steamer and checking for any cold or frozen spots.

For an accurate temperature, fold the unopened bag around a stemmed thermometer.

Transfer product to a holding/serving unit and maintain a temperature of 150 degrees-160 degrees for service.

Difference Between A Warmer And Rethermalizer
 A guide to help you determine whether a Vollrath warmer or rethermalizer better fits the needs of your applications.

Warmer

- Keeps hot food hot
- Holds heated food
- Meets appropriate NSF4 criteria

Performance Criteria:

Designed to hold heated prepared foods at temperatures above the HACCP "danger zone" of 140°F (60°C).

The performance standard is measured using the NSF mixture preheated to 160°F (71.1°C).

The unit will hold the temperature of this product above 150°F (65°C).

The temperature will be maintained when the food product and inset are used with a standard inset cover, the proper water level is maintained in the well, and the food product is stirred regularly.

Rethermalizer

- Takes prepared food from chilled to hot
- Holds heated food
- Meets appropriate NSF4 criteria

Performance Criteria:

Designed to take a container of prepared food from a chilled state (below 40°F [4.4°C]) through the HACCP "danger zone" to a temperature of 165°F (73.9°C) in less than 90 minutes. The performance standard is measured using the NSF mixture chilled to 35°F (1.7°C).

The unit will raise the temperature of this product above 165°F (73.9°C) in less than 90 minutes.

The temperature will be maintained above 150°F (65.6°C) when the food product and inset are used with a standard inset cover, the proper water level is maintained in the well and the food product is stirred regularly.
